Night life

When dark falls, the evening moves to the rhythm of different styles of music and performances by top DJs in the city's leading venues in Calle San Miguel, Santa Faz, Alicante and Cuatre Cantons, to name a few. You'll also find the fantastic parties and night life in the pubs and clubs on the Levante beach, the most popular part of town after dark.

When it comes to eating and drinking, Benidorm has superb range of gastronomy, which includes every type of global cuisine you can imagine. If you like eating "tapas" why not try out the Basque "tascas" and "mesones" in calle Santo Domingo and its surroundings. Don't miss the delicious rice, meat and fish dishes!

Music is a big part of the summer scene in Benidorm. You can enjoy it not only during what is the best "gay parade" in town, but also during two of Spain's leading music festivals. The Low Festival takes place in July. It is a top event in Spain and attracts some of the most avant-garde, popular artists on the national and international music scenes. In August, the Iberia Festival is a proof that a good national rock festival never dies.

Benidorm has more than 20 years' experience with gay-friendly bars and restaurants. Benidorm Pride takes place in early September. The city is brimming with colour, music and unbridled revelry to celebrate Gay Pride Day. A week of parties and celebrations that culminate with the Benidorm Pride Parade, featuring more than 20 floats with more than 300 people dancing, followed by an amazing feast. Benidorm Pride is the last of these festivals that take place in Europe.

Not to forget the array of shows and performances with go-go dancers and drag queens available in numerous nightspots.
